INSTITUTE OF AFRICAN AMERICAN RESEARCH GRADUATE STUDENT
BROWN BAG SERIES

FALL 2015

“Tracking Antibiotic Resistant Bacteria in African American Communities in Industrial Hog Production Regions of North Carolina”
Presented by Sarah Rhodes, School of Public Health, UNC-Chapel Hill, Elizabeth Christenson, Psychology, UNC-Chapel Hill
10/21/2015

PRESENTER RESOURCES

Environmental Injustice and Community-based work:

Health Effects of Industrial Hog Operations (IHOs):

Meat and Industrial Hog Operations (IHOs):

Food and Drug Administration (2012). National Antimicrobial Resistance Monitoring System (NARMS) integrated report. Available at www.fda.gov

Meat and Industrial Hog Operations (IHOs):

STONE CENTER LIBRARY RESOURCES

RA448.5.N4 B424 2000. (Available in Stone Center Library, Davis Library, and Health Sciences Library.)

RA564.86 .W55 1993. (Available in Stone Center Library, Davis Library, and Health Sciences Library.)

OTHER UNC-CH LIBRARY RESOURCES

This bibliography was prepared by Sarah Rhodes, Elizabeth Christensen, and the Stone Center Library staff.